The Rosary

The Rosary in the past History of the Church has been the weapon used by Christians to drive out heresy. It can still be powerful to drive out the modern heresy of godlessness and materialism.

Father Patrick Peyton, leader of the Family Rosary Crusade, says his Rosary

In recent times, thanks to the untiring efforts of Father Peyton, many millions have pledged to say the Rosary as a family. Many years ago Pope Pius IX said: "If you desire peace in your homes in your country, assemble every evening to recite the Rosary. And his successor, Pope Pius XII: "The fathers and mothers of families must give an example to their children, especially at sunset when they gather together and recite the Holy Rosary on bended knees. This is a beautiful and salutary custom, from which certainly there cannot but be derived tranquillity and abundance of heavenly gifts for the household."

At all times and everywhere, wherever there is a church, wherever Mass is offered, wherever a missionary preaches the Gospel or a family kneels together in prayer, the Rosary is said.

Every Catholic worthy of the name should possess and use a Rosary. Daily, in all languages, millions of men and women send up their prayers to our Heavenly Mother. For seven hundred years, ever since St. Dominic received the Rosary from Our Blessed Lady, the faithful have been urged by bishops, priests and confessors to make the fullest use of it. Not only the great masses of the people, but men eminent in all walks of life, say the Rosary daily. Why? Because they know it is a devotion blessed and approved by God, an infallible source of favours and Grace, and above all . . .

A Weapon to combat the Forces of Evil

We live in dangerous times. The threat of war is ever present and from day to day the world lives in fear of its outbreak. The last two wars, terrible though they were, were as nothing compared with the horrors that threaten us to-day.

How can war be averted? The efforts of statesmen are bringing us no nearer to true peace. All they have to offer is a strengthening of our defences. A great armament race

The Solution for Peace and Happiness . . . . .

In the world, in the nation, and in family life, there are strong forces working against the peace and happiness which all men seek. These forces are particularly apparent in our homes, where the increase in broken homes, parental irresponsibility and juvenile delinquency threaten to undermine the fundamental unit of our society—the family.

. . . . Daily Family Prayer

Absolutely necessary is a return to the spiritual and moral principles which were the strength of family life in the past. As a means of doing this, nothing could be more effective or more fitting than the universal restoration to home life of the practice of daily family prayer. No family which prays to God each day, fervently and as a group, can fail to realize better the bond of love and understanding which should unite them in the brotherhood of man under the Fatherhood of God.

is at this moment in progress and we know only too well from past experience that arms cannot be stored indefinitely. They are made to be used and but for God's goodness they will be used one day, unless peace and goodwill between East and West can be re-established.

But what hope is there of that? Anyone who knows the principles of atheistic communism and the part Russia is playing in propagating them throughout the world, realizes that the Kremlin will have peace only on its own terms. Communism and Christian civilization are incompatible. Either the one or the other must ultimately triumph. If we, the ordinary people of the world, allow things to go on as they are, there will be war. Millions—not thousands as in former wars—will perish in a matter of minutes whether they are in a state of Grace or not. And who would dare to say that the majority of those who are threatened with extinction are God-fearing, God-loving souls, spiritually prepared to meet their Maker?

What then must we do?

And yet we, the ordinary people of this world, have it in our power (under God's providence) to avert this calamity. Our Lady has promised that "Russia will be converted" if only men heed the message she gave to the children at Fatima. "Converted" is the operative word. But let us not be mistaken. The conversion of Russia does not mean conversion to what is called the British way of life or to Western ideas of democracy. It means conversion to the Christian way of life. It means conversion to Christ and the recognition of God's law. Peace on earth was promised by the angels to Men of Good Will, and the will of all men must be directed towards the promotion of the common good.

A Remedy for Sin

We have all strayed from the path of truth and virtue. The present state of the world is directly attributable to the sins of mankind. Our Lady said at Fatima: Men must cease offending Our Lord who is already too much offended. And the remedy she gave was the recitation of the Rosary.

We are inclined to say: This is all too simple. How can a comparatively small group of people in this world of over two thousand million souls bring peace merely by reciting the Rosary every day?

A simple Thing

Our Lady asks a very simple thing, but it needs obedience and trust. It is not for us to question how she will do it, but she has promised that if her request be granted there will be peace. Peace means order and tranquility and to accomplish these a great change of heart throughout the world will be needed. But it is a promise by One who has the power to fulfil it and we must believe that "if her request be granted" Grace, which alone can change the hearts of men, will be forthcoming.

OUR LADY OF THE ROSARY

The Rosary was the book of the unlettered before the age of printing, which familiarised their hearts with the chief mysteries of the Gospel; it is excellent for two classes—for those who like it and for those who don't. Millions of souls have been made contemplative and internally spiritual by its use, who without it would never have become so. Some people do not like to take the medicine that would heal them, and call it nonsense. The Rosary is that 'nonsense' which cures an amazing deal of nonsense.

Listen to Mary

No better solution is offered by the rulers of the world. Then let us listen to Mary. We know that Our Blessed Mother is the Mediatrix of all Graces. Through her the Lord dispenses His divine grace as and where she knows best. So we may presume that in some way Our Lady needs our offerings in order to present them to her Divine Son in exchange for the necessary Grace which she is willing to distribute where it is needed most. It is a comparable situation with the simple offering of five loaves and two fishes which the Lord made into an abundance of food for the five thousand. Or like the command to fill the water-pots with water, which at Mary's bidding was turned into wine. Now she bids us say the Rosary and in some way we may depend on it that these our offerings, brought in simple obedience to her request, will be laid at the feet of her Son in exchange for Grace to move the wills of men.

Our Weapon — the Rosary

If God would have saved Sodom and Gomorrah if ten just men could have been found in them, who is to say that He will not save this world from atomic war and destruction if a sufficient number of people are found willing to do His Mother's bidding?

In the past the Rosary has been the weapon used by Christians to combat heresy. It may well prove powerful enough to drive out the modern heresy of godless materialism. It is the weapon which Mary will use to "crush the head of the serpent."

Why a Rosary is so called

Rosary comes from the Latin 'rosarium' which means a chaplet or garland of roses, and was used only figuratively to include an artistic arrangement of beautiful things other than roses. One may speak, for instance, of a rosary or anthology of literary gems. The word, therefore, provides a suitable name for the familiar arrangement of 'Our Fathers' 'Hail Mary's' and 'Glorias,' and seems to have been in use from the thirteenth century onwards. Corona or chaplet, some times used for rosary, suggest the same idea. The old English name found in Chaucer and elsewhere was a 'pair of beads.' 'A pair' originally meant a set, and 'beads,' 'prayers'; so this name signifies a 'set of prayers.'

PRAYER TO MARY

The world has its apostles, its patriarchs, its prophets, its confessors, its virgins all of them excellent protectors, whom I desire humbly to invoke. But thou, O Lady, art better and more excellent than all; because over these and over all the Saints and Angels thou art Queen. Queen thou art over the kings and the mighty of the earth, over rich and poor, masters and servants, great and small; and what all these can do with thy help, thou availest without them all

And wherefore such power? Because thou art the Mother of our Saviour the spouse of God, Queen over heaven and earth and all the elements. Thee, therefore, do I implore, in thee do I take refuge, of thee do I humbly supplicate help in all things. If thou art silent, none will pray, none will help me. If thou prayest then all will pray. and will come to my aid.

Say ten Hail Marys

Say the Glory be to the Father

In group recitation of the Rosary, a leader usually says the opening part of the Apostles' Creed, the Our Father, the Hail Mary, and the Glory be to the Father, and the group answers by saying in unison the second part of the prayer. In families, frequently a different member acts as leader for each decade.

With the Glory be to the Father after the last decade, the Rosary is concluded. The Sign of the Cross may then be made to close the devotion. However, Catholics customarily add the Hail, Holy Queen.
